

HOUSE TALKS LONG ON CURRENCY BILL

Sudden Interest in the Measure Seemed to Develop—Final Action Not Taken.

SHARP TILTS DURING DEBATE

Impeachment Charges on Which Swayne Will be Tried Presented by Committee.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, January 10.—The session of the House today was given over almost entirely to a discussion of the bill reported by the Committee on Banking and Currency, "to improve currency conditions." A sudden interest in the measure seemed to develop as evidenced by the large attendance throughout the day. Democratic opposition mainly was dissipated by the adoption of an amendment offered by Mr. Williams (Mississippi) providing that government deposits shall be made only upon competitive bids. Final action on the bill was not taken.

The impeachment charges upon which Judge Charles Swayne will be tried were presented before adjournment, and no action was given by Mr. Palmer (Pennsylvania), chairman of the committee of seven which prepared them, that he would call the case upon Thursday next.

Speech by Bartlett.

Mr. Bartlett (Georgia), who was the sole member of the Banking and Currency Committee, opposed to the currency bill, and who filed the minority report upon it, in a brief, but vigorous speech, declared that he had no apologies to make to the House or the people of the country for his position regarding the bill. He affirmed his adherence to Democratic principles, and said he could not favor a bill he did not believe in. In a sarcastic vein he spoke of the alleged anxiety of the Republicans to reform currency conditions when he said they knew they were adept and past-masters in the art of being ostensibly for something they did not intend to pass. Mr. Bartlett criticized the manner in which the bill had been kept to the front, and inquired whether or not it was in preference to the tariff bill looking to the reform of the tariff by "adding the people to relieve themselves from the choking and grasping fingers of a combination of railroad extortionists."

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Bartlett touched upon the amount of certain cities in Georgia. The figures were challenged by Mr. Smith (Iowa), who denied that the statement was correct.

"Oh," replied Mr. Bartlett, with a languid air, "I am not surprised that you would say that. A man who has you denied Christ once."

The Williams amendment offered some time ago, providing for loans to national banks only upon competitive bids, was opposed by Mr. Smith (Iowa), and favored by Mr. Cockran (New York).

Cockran and Fowler.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Cockran was interrupted by Messrs. Lacey (Iowa), Williams (Mississippi), and Fowler (New Jersey), chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, the latter of whom took exception to certain deductions made by Mr. Cockran. To the amusement of the Democratic side, Mr. Cockran characterized Mr. Fowler "as the most imposing and the most respectable authority" on the subject of finance in all the world. The Republican side was thrown into an uproar when Mr. Fowler retorted: "If your judgment was worth anything I would thank you."

Mr. Cockran, however, received vociferous Democratic applause when he declared in reply that he had only made the statement for the sake of argument, and that he was not at all serious in it.

Mr. Fowler spoke in advocacy of his own amendment, which provides for government deposits up to twenty-five per cent of the banks' capitalization, at two per cent interest, the government to have first lien on the bank's securities, and argued that there could be no law that would result in more equal justice than that.

Upon the conclusion of Mr. Fowler's remarks, a vote was taken on the Williams amendment, which was adopted 114 to 80.

Mr. Thayer (Massachusetts) referring to the Fowler amendment, said he "had an inkling in some way" that if the bill became law, most of the money would go to New York.

Fowler Amendment Lost.

Mr. Williams thought that action on the Fowler amendment was unnecessary in view of the adoption of his own amendment. Then the Fowler amendment was offered by Mr. Bowle (Alabama) designed to meet the suggestion of Mr. Thayer, providing that all money so deposited shall be creditably distributed among the banks in the several States of this Union, but Mr. Thayer contended that it did not go far enough.

On a rising vote, 138 to 14, it was agreed to incorporate the Bowle amendment as a part of the Fowler amendment.

The question then recurred on the Fowler amendment as amended. The amendment was lost, 101 to 125.

An amendment by Mr. Thayer (Massachusetts) restricting the amount of silver to be received into subsidiary coin to $5,000,000 in any one year was adopted. An amendment providing for the redemption of standard silver dollars "from cash in the general fund in the treasury" was rejected.

The House adjourned until tomorrow without completing the bill.

The Senate.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., January 10.—The Senate today continued the consideration of the joint resolution bill, the most marked accomplishment being the acceptance of most of the amendments suggested by the Committee on Banking and Currency, and the passage of the bill by Mr. Stewart and Newlands, the former advocating an amendment for the protection of the interests of the Indians in Indian Territory, and the latter the necessity of limiting the area of lands to be sold to individuals.

The bill for the reimbursement of American sailors for loss under the seizures in Berlin Sea, was considered, but a vote was not reached.

The Senate adjourned until tomorrow.

A FIELD FLOWER.

BEAUTIFUL AS THE ROSE.

"She looks as clear as morning roses newly washed with dew."—SHAKESPEARE.

FRESH young face like the lilies of the field attracts a man. But what holds a man is charm, and a woman may be very lovely yet possess no charms. There is no reason why a woman in good health should not retain her looks until she is quite old. Girls grow up like flowers in the field, and it needs to be that their good looks—which we mean disease of the feminine organs—should grow up beautiful. There is no reason in the world why the majority of our women should grow old looking and haggard as young as they do. The influence of flowers is good. A woman who loves flowers is usually one who enjoys tranquility and cheerfulness, has usually charming feminine ways. Men do not like a mannish woman. The sight of flowers often tranquilizes a woman's nerves and the perfume soothes the temper. In America wrinkles are the greatest drawbacks to beauty that we have to fight. It seems as if we even see wrinkles in the faces of our very young girls. Life is an open air assault on people to keep young. By living in stagnant air in a close room night or day the beauty of the complexion is spoiled. "Many people imagine night air is dangerous," says Dr. Pierce, the great specialist in women's diseases. "They exclude it from the sleeping rooms as far as possible by keeping doors and windows closed. This is a mistake. Young women are apt to hover about the register or stove, spending too much time in the warmth indoors, with the result that they become tender and sensitive and are almost certain to catch cold. The young girl is like a plant which, set in a dark corner, becomes scrawny and struggles hard for an existence, but if put in the sunlight and fresh air, she grows vigorous. Thousands of girls in America lose health and strength and grow thin and sickly because they do not take proper hygienic methods or take proper care of their womanly health. When there is disturbance of the female organs the effects are wide spread and disastrous."

About thirty-eight years ago, Dr. R. V. Pierce, then a practicing physician, found in a certain compound made from roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol or narcotic, was a specific for those diseases peculiar to women. There is nothing that will produce wrinkles and a bad complexion so surely as displacements of the organs essentially feminine. When pains and aches rack the womanly system at frequent intervals, take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will cure those ailments and stop the drains which are such a drag on the vitality of womanhood. If you are at a loss to know what is the matter with you, write Dr. Pierce, who will answer you in strict confidence; he is a physician and surgeon who has had a thorough medical training and a large experience in diseases of women, and will give you advice free of cost to you.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb, which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

Miss Mary Robinson, No. 73 Amsterdam Ave., New York City, Treasurer of the Woman's Progressive Union, writes: "I am satisfied that half the doctors do not know what really ails their patients, while you have carefully studied the needs of the sick and worn-out, and have skillfully prepared a reliable remedy which will cure in a short time. Two years ago I began to feel 'run-down,' the extreme heat of the summer nearly prostrated me, and when fall came I was ill prepared to take up anew the burdens of life. I had headache, backache, and was very nervous; scarcely able to sleep more than two hours at a time. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and was delighted with the result. Within a week I was sleeping splendidly. Continued using the 'Favorite Prescription' for eight weeks, and then stopped, for I was perfectly well. Ever since then your medicine has been my 'Favorite Prescription,' too. I recommend it to every one."

Every woman, young or old, should know herself. To arrive at this knowledge, secure a good doctor book, by addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, which can be procured by sending twenty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or thirty-one stamps for a cloth-bound copy.

BILL TO RELIEVE TREASURER LACY

Introduced at Governor's Request and Passed at Once.

BILL TO KEEP OUT FLEAS

Vote Canvassed Preparatory to Inauguration of Governor-Elect Glenn To-day.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 10.—There was introduced in the Senate to-day by Grady, of Clinton, and put on its immediate passage a bill to relieve State Treasurer Lacy of $74,841 that was embroiled from the treasury by Major W. H. Martin, now serving ten years for embezzling over $10,000 from State Treasurer Worth, the embezzlement from Lacy having been committed while Martin was coaching Lacy's clerks, on the change of administration four years ago, and led to the discovery by Lacy of the embezzlement under Worth's administration. The bill was introduced at the request of Governor Aycock, and was passed at once and sent to the House, where it was motioned to suspend the rules and put it on its immediate passage was withdrawn, and the bill referred to the Committee on Claims.

A bill introduced in the Senate that caused considerable merriment was due to require all school houses and churches to be blocked or underlaid to prevent sheep, hogs and goats from congregating under them. There was a motion to include fleas, the bill was referred to the Committee on Propositions and Grievances.

Graham, of Tarboro, introduced a bill to prevent fraudulent transfers by requiring that all parties to a firm be published in the House the bill for repeal of the anti-jug law fraudulently passed two years ago, was made a special order for January 20th. It is under special order to the committee that its passage is not expected to the four or five counties only.

Wardlaw, of Richmond, introduced a bill making a week's work in cotton mills sixty-three, instead of sixty-six hours.

Graham, of Granville, to allow all Confederate veterans who lost arm and leg to receive pension, whether they have $500, property or no.

At a joint session, Senate and House this afternoon, the vote in the last election was canvassed preparatory for the inauguration of Governor Glenn and installation of State officers to-morrow.
